ANNOUNCEMENTS

N. E. O. P. meets tonight.

Miss M. C. Adles will be in Norwich all this week. See adv.

AT THE AUDITORIUM

Four high class acts will be present-ed for the first half of this week head-ed by the Tremont quartette of singers, will known to the profession and the possessors of voices rich and metodi-ous which blend most harmoniously. To add a little variety to the bill, the traun Sisters will present a planologu turn which is very neat and prefty and exceptionally well contumed. Joe Dun-els, a well known impersonator of famous present-day actors will also be in hand and entertain in a most fas-cinaling manner for afteen short minthese Arthur Boyle and Ann Evans have a very funny talking act full of bright consedy, and one which will seredy please. The photophys are getting better and batter each week, and are causing considerable comment.

THE POLI PLAYERS.

Nothing remains now but to present the Poli Players to the public and this afternoon and tonight this will be done by a way that is sure to win unstinted praise and commendation from all sides. The scenery is all painted and rendy for use, the properties and ac-pessories are finished and waiting, and and best of all the dress reliears. over and was as near perfect as possible for such a thing to be abody connected with the theater th event as though it had been the real spening, and it was freely predicted that the Poli Players will give the best performance of "The Lion and the source" that has been seen, with the single exception of the New York production, which was rehearsed for weeks and weeks before it was offered to the special section. and weeks before it was offered to the public. The introduction of the present company of stock players is an event in local theatrical history the importance of which will be fully restized by tonight. The opportunity to witness plays of the character and class preplays of the character and class pre-mented by this commany at prices that are comparatively insignificant, is one timt has a powerful influence on the sectal life of any city and the oppor-tualty presented by the Poll Players is one that is far more attractive, con-sidering quality and price, than most cities are favored with. There seems to be ittile agestion at this last nocities are favored with. There seems to be little question at this last moment that after the first performance the theater-goers of Norwich will extend to Mr. Poli a genuine and hearty vote of thanks and gratifude for the manner in which he has looked after their interests in the line of high class amusements. While the rale of seats is extraordinarily heavy, there are still some good seats left for the opening night, while at the matinees all seats are sold without reservation when the doors open. The same applies to the balcony at night, so that the early comers are assured of good seats, evu though the reserved section is all oald. though the reserved section is all onld. Tomorrow morning the company be-gins rehearming for "The Squaw Man," which will be the offering for Christ-

BREED THEATER.

The extra strong bill of motion pic-tures at the Breed theater for today inciudes one of the novellies of the day, enwiled 'The Engineer's Sweetheart,' which is one of the best pictures in the field, which deals with facts and events directly related to railroad affairs and customs, healdes depicting a wholesome and thrilling plot showing the masters of the "Giants of the Rais" the masters of the "Glants of the Rails" in some of their most trying moments. The beautiful Biograph pleture is an indean story entitled "The Song of the Wildwood Flute," for which special music has been written.

The illustrated songs will be the intest and most popular hits of the day, and include "When I Gathered the Myrtle With Mary."

A NEW GRETNA GREEN.

Justice in Fairfield Will Marry Couples Free, with Candy and Automobile Ride Thrown In.

A free wedding, a pound of candy r the bride, with a kiss if desired, for the bride, with a Riss if desired, and an automobile trip about the village of Fairfield are some of the inducements held out by Justice of the Peace John E. Boyle to men and makes, who are making up their minds to commit matrimony, says a Bridge-

Green of America, thanks to Connecticut's indulgent marriage laws.

"All they've got to do," said Mr. Boyle," is to let me know on what train they'll arrive. I'll meet them at the station, take them in my machine to the Town hall and then to the store. While a phonograph plays the bridgi chorus from Lohengrin I'll theyform the caremony. Then I'll give perform the ceremony. Then I'll give the bride a pound of candy and take the havey pair for a trip as a start for their wedding tour. "This offer holds good from now on. I think that New York couples will appreciate this chance, now that New Jersey's marriage laws require a twoweeks' residence in that state. Let them all come to Fairfield and get the right start for their wedded life."

MODELS OF FLYING MACHINES.

The Williams Brothers of Derby Have

Several Operating in Various Cities. Milton and Lee Williams of Derby, who have made a number of small heavier than air flying machines, which fly by electricity have a number of these machines on exhibition in stores in several cities in the state. The machine has been described in the Sentinel, one of them having been exhibited in the Gardner & Hall Co's store. It is a model of a monoplane and a small motor whirls the propeller so rapidly that the machine files in a line of the control of so rapidly that the machine files in a circle for an indefinite time, the limit depending upon the length of time the current is supplied. The models have proved attractive features for the holiday times. Four of them have been placed in the store of D. M. Reed in Bridgeport, two have been placed in store in Waterbury, one in a store in New Haven and one in the Howard & Barber Co.'s store in Derby. A Hartford concern is considering placing one or two of them in its stores.—Ansonia Sentinel.
